Isle of Spice.

A very small house greeted the Isle of Spice on its second appearance here Wednesday evening, but the fact that the house was crowded on its first appearance here, probably accounts for this, as the production is of the light variety that few people care to see twice. The company is a good one, many of them the same ones who appeared here when New Music hall was opened, and the stage pictures are as effective and pretty as can be. The color combinations are particularly pleasing to the eye and no one can wonder that the er. Poultry if good in demand. Good production has retained its popularity
